

AP PLOT TO SEIZE SIBERIA REVEALED!

Plan Soldier Bonus Law

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—A move toward party solidarity in effort to find ways and means of increasing the efficiency of the Republican party in Congress, it was learned today, was the twofold purpose of the White House dinner Saturday night which brought together President Harding and cabinet members, including Senators and Representatives.

Decision was virtually reached on what was described as two matters of first importance, early enactment of a soldier-bonus bill and early assembling of a Republican Senate conference to reconcile any differences which may be found to exist in party councils over the form to be given legislation for refunding Allied debts.

INCOME TO PAY BONUS. Three subjects were inter-connected in the discussion, since the possible income of the debt, it was fairly generally agreed, stood out as the best chance of reconciling differences which may be found to exist in party councils over the form to be given legislation for refunding Allied debts.

Secretary Weeks and Atty.-Gen. Daugherty participated, as did Chairman John T. Adams of the Senate Finance Committee.

Senator Weeks had today an outline of a program for the Senate, which indicated that after debate on the Newberry contest and the proposed amendment to the Federal Reserve Act, action first would be sought on the foreign-debt funding measure. The soldier-bonus bill was stated as next, with provisions for payment of the debt largely on the final form of the debt-funding legislation. Republican party conferences on each question were scheduled for the near future, it was understood.

TARIFF ON TREATIES. Following the bonus bill, Senators said, either the tariff or the arms treaties would be the Senate's work. Senators did not believe that the tariff bill would be ready to take third place, while others declared that the import tax schedule would be completed by February 15, a date which they believed would be earlier than the treaty would be submitted.

Harding was said to have indicated his view that Congressional members should furnish the leadership and basis for legislation, particularly on formation policies, but expressed a desire to co-operate. Secretary Weeks suggested that the debated questions should be thrown into party caucus, and that the majority, having so developed its views should proceed to enact legislation accordingly.

BLOC NOT HOSTILE. Objections were voiced, it was said, by participants from Congress. Operations of a considerable number of western Republicans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—That Southern industries are for protection, the fact that most of the Southern States are represented by a delegation to the Senate Finance Committee indicates a southern tariff association. Sixty-two delegates will be represented by the delegation.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, to succeed Senator Pomeroy, is expected to take place. No opposition has developed to his selection under the seniority rule.

AGENTS OF TOKIO TRYING TO DRIVE AWAY AMERICANS

VLADIVOSTOK, Dec. 2.—[By Special Courier to the United States.] The agents of the Tokyo government have just made a desperate effort to drive the last remnant of American authority from Manchuria and Siberia and thus to clear the way of the last obstacle in the way of seizure of the vast domain of North Asia.

The last remnant of American authority here are members of the inter-Allied technical committee, of which the chairman is John F. Stevens, the American engineer and railway executive. Stevens left here early in October on orders from Washington to be adviser of the American delegation to the conference on eastern affairs.

It was on the departure of Stevens on October 13 that the Japanese conspiracy, which had been simmering for some time, jumped into full activity. This conspiracy was centered on Maj. F. M. Clarke, formerly a stockton (cal.) railroad man, whom Stevens left as the representative on the inter-Allied board.

The original documents secretly exchanged between the Japanese in Tokyo and Vladivostok and the monarchist Russians of the Merkuloff government of Vladivostok, photographs, reproductions of which I herewith inclose, show the course of this conspiracy.

The members of the Tokyo government in Vladivostok, were Gen. Tachibana, commander-in-chief of the Japanese forces in Siberia, and Maj. Oshima of the intelligence department of the Japanese forces in Siberia, fourth section (for surveillance of foreigners) and Maj. Oshima of the main

DECREASE IN CRIME.

One Net Result of Dry Law.

Prohibition Not Responsible for Either Prosperity or Hard Times.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The prohibition brought prosperity? The answer of the Times investigation is in this question: why, then, that it is apparent other factors far outweigh prohibition in their bearing on the question of prosperity in the country or in certain localities, and that there is no reason to suppose prohibition is responsible for either prosperity or hard times.

In one respect nearly all of the reports agree in substance. A marked decrease in crime has been noted since the country over during the period since the National Prohibition Act went into effect. It is true that the last few months have seen greater activity on the part of the criminals and numerous instances nearly everywhere of spectacular lawlessness.

DECREASE IS SHOWN. Where this has been noted it has been explained as due to the economic situation, unemployment and the after-the-war breakdown of morals. In spite of it, the jail and penitentiary records show that crime has decreased in the last two years materially. Hospital and other records show, too, that insanity has decreased.

It would seem, therefore, from the reports received, the details of which will be taken up later under different headings, that two years of prohibition have brought these results:

NET RESULTS. The smuggling of a vast quantity of liquor into the United States and the illegal manufacture of perhaps as much again, the decrease in the consumption of intoxicating liquor by approximately 70 per cent, making a liberal allowance for unknown factors.

The cutting off of more than $250,000,000 a year of the revenue of the United States government, and a great, but unknown, loss of revenue to the State and municipal governments. The increasing of the revenue to the government from the sale of theater and other amusement tickets and from the sale of soft drinks.

The substantial and general decrease in crime and in insanity cases. Inasmuch as specific mention has been made in the previous article of the conditions prevailing in three of the States that were dry before 7 national prohibition went into effect, it is entirely fair that the authority for these statements be given.

The States mentioned were Georgia, Texas and Oregon. Following is an extract from the Times' correspondent in Atlanta, Ga.: "BARRIERS BASHED. Georgia, dry nominally since 1916, has had her liquor, but not her bootleggers; has made a fortune for many a bootlegger; has enabled many a farmer to forget the low price brought by corn and corn; has changed the color from red to white; has hiked the price to the skies, and has greatly aided whatever officers of the law through the proceeds of the sale of captured automobiles, booze-laden. There is probably more liquor in Atlanta than there was before prohibition. It is estimated that there are some 3000 bootleggers in Atlanta. There are more cases of violation of the law in Georgia than in any other State.

FINDS REPUTED DESERTER UNDER BED

Rescuing to his home at 220 East Seventeenth street last night, R. Smith walked into his bedroom and was surprised to notice a pair of legs protruding from under the bed. Mr. Smith, described by the police as a good-sized man, reached down and pulled out the legs, with the result that he was in a few seconds confronted with a youth who gave his name later as N. J. Burgess. Mr. Smith called the police. Officers Killeady and Kowling of the University station answered and arrested Burgess on a charge of suspicion of burglary. They declare that Burgess admitted being a deserter from the Navy and stated that he had run into Mr. Smith's house to hide when chased by Federal officers.

POLITICS VS. FINANCE.

Bankers Becoming Alarmed at Tendency to Interfere With Federal Reserve System.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Telegrams and letters received by Senators indicate that the bankers of the country are becoming concerned over political dangers confronting the Federal reserve system. Dozens of telegrams which have reached Senators during the past week indicate that they regard the pending bill giving agricultural representation on the Federal Reserve Board as the first step toward the injection of politics into finance.

There is strong sentiment among the bankers for some legislation which would further separate the Federal reserve system from possible political influence. Among the proposals made by bankers are the removal of the headquarters of the Federal Reserve Board from Washington, the elimination of the Secretary of the Treasury as ex-officio chairman of the board, and also the elimination of the Controller of Currency as an ex-officio member.

ABOLISH CONTROLLER. The bankers favor the abolishment of the office of Controller of the Currency as provided in the McFadden bill pending in the House. The bankers also favor the provision of the McFadden bill which designates the Undersecretary of the Treasury as the only ex-officio member of the board. Under the McFadden bill, the committee on Banking and Currency, the office of Controller of the Currency is abolished and in order to keep the membership of the Federal Reserve Board at seven, the appointive members are increased from five to six.

The Senate will pass some sort of a bill providing for representation of agriculture on the Federal Reserve Board when the measure comes up under a unanimous consent decree on the 17th inst. seems certain. The test of strength will come over whether the bill as reported from the Senate Banking and Currency Committee and under the administration will be approved or whether the substitute offered by Senator Smith of South Carolina and supported by many members of the agricultural bloc, will be passed.

FOR McLEAN'S BILL. The bankers, as well as President Harding and his cabinet advisers, are disposed to offer no objection to the bill as reported to the Senate by Senator McLean of Connecticut, chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, which merely provides that the Executive hereafter in selecting the five appointive members of the board shall have due regard to a fair representation of the different agricultural, commercial, industrial and geographical divisions of the country.

EXPECT RISE IN PRICE OF SUGAR SOON

Department of Commerce Says Present Low Figures Cannot Long Continue.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—High prices for sugar may be expected, according to the results of an investigation into the situation in the sugar industry made public tonight by the Commerce Department.

"The market," the department said, "is entirely uninfluenced by any artificial control and the present low price level is maintained not long continue without restricting the production of sugar below the world's demands and again creating higher prices."

The department found that there is an abnormal "visible" world surplus of sugar, amounting to about 1,500,000 tons, congested in the Western Hemisphere. "Invisible" stocks of sugar in the hands of wholesalers and retailers was estimated at from 300,000 to 400,000 tons below normal, due to apprehension of further fall in prices.

The world production of sugar for 1922 was estimated to be less by from 400,000 to 500,000 tons than production for 1921, while consumption for 1922, it was thought, would be larger than in 1921, and "with general economic recovery should exceed production and thus absorb some or all of the surplus." The present price of 11.47 for "C" and "F" raw sugar was declared to be the lowest level in twenty years and to be below production cost of about 90 per cent of both domestic and Cuban sugar.

SEEKING LIGHT
ON SHANTUNG.Hughes, Balfour Sounding
Out Jap Delegates.Belief Tokio Will Not Agree to Further Concessions.Weakness of Peking Regime
Main Stumbling Block.

(REUTERS DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Secretary of State Hughes and Mr. Balfour were busy today sounding the Japanese on the possibility of effecting a resumption of the negotiations for the settlement of the Shantung dispute between China and Japan. Little progress is understood to have been made.

That the conference has gone about as far as it is possible in dealing with Far Eastern questions is generally recognized. When it comes to Manchuria, there is strictly nothing doing. The Japanese do not intend to budge there and since no one wishes to undertake to put them out they will probably stay right there. No one expects any real progress on Siberia. It is even doubtful if any general principles to respect Russian territorial sovereignty will be passed, since other nations take a somewhat different view from that of America on this difficult diplomatic point.

READY TO SIGN.
It is true the powers are ready to sign a treaty including the four Root principles referring to the political and territorial integrity of China and the open door, but the value of such a treaty would be problematical since these principles have been monetary times written into treaties with and concerning China by the powers here represented. As for the application of those principles in a manner to be written into treaty form the outlook is dismal. So far, the only definite thing that has been given China in the form she asked for is the withdrawal of foreign post offices, stated to take place the first of next year. As for her demand that foreign troops be taken off her territory, she gets a commission to study the problem. She gets another commission to study the abolition of extraterritorial courts and a third commission to study the possibility of permitting her to raise import tariff 1 1/2 per cent. She had asked for entire customs autonomy.

TWOFOOLD DIFFICULTY.
The difficulty with making progress with respect to China is twofold. First, there is the much-discussed weakness of the Peking government, which raises doubts as to China being able to carry out the ends of the bargain which would have to be made in connection with the powers surrendering rights they have in China. In the second place, there is the unwillingness of certain powers, chiefly Japan, to give up rights they hold by treaty.

The fact that the Root principles cannot be made retroactive here and there is no doubt that they will be applied in the future, since many of the Chinese treaties Japan now has were made subsequent to the declaration of the same principles on behalf of the Mikado.

NAVY HAS PLAN FOR
SUBSIDIZING SHIPS.WANTS TO ENCOURAGE BUILD-ING WESTERN SHIPS
FOR AUXILIARIES.(REUTERS DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Naval officials are urging that President Harding and the Shipping Board in submitting a ship subsidy program to Congress develop a scheme which will encourage the construction and maintenance of vessels which can be used as auxiliary naval craft in time of war.

Considerations involved in the national defense may cause the navy to support a formula for determining the amount of subsidy to be paid a shipowner which is favored by naval experts rather than the formula proposed by the American merchant marine joint committee made up of ship owners, operators and builders.

The American merchant marine joint committee in its recommendations submitted to the ship subsidy conference held under the auspices of the Shipping Board on Friday urged that the subsidy be paid under the Gallinger plan of $100,000 per year per ton and that the faster passenger ships be encouraged by means of a postal subvention.

Representative Clarence S. Williams, who is one of the Navy representatives on the Shipping Board committee of experts, is strongly of the opinion that the Gallinger plan does not offer sufficient encouragement to the faster vessels which are suitable for use as naval auxiliaries in time of war.

Admiral Williams favors the use of a differential based on a combination of the speed, tonnage and distance covered.

The plan proposed by Admiral Williams contemplates that for speeds up to 14 knots the rate of subsidy shall be constant, but that including and beyond 14 knots the rate shall vary with the square of the speed.

Complications which have been made by the Shipping Board experts indicate the need of about 100 ships in the American merchant marine suitable for naval auxiliaries. At present there are only about forty such ships, hence naval officials emphasize the desirability of working out a subsidy formula which will give encouragement to the construction and operation of this type of vessel.

TEN ELDERS
OF CHURCH
POISONED.Two May Die as Result of Drinking Oak Varnish for Sacramental Wine.(REUTERS DISPATCH.)
GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.) Jan. 8.—Ten elders of the Seventh Reformed Church here were seriously poisoned and two may die as the result of drinking oak stain varnish for sacramental wine at the morning service today.

The men staggered from the pulpit where they took the communion draught and reeled in front of the pulpit, where one after another of the ten elders dropped to the floor while the congregation was thrown into an uproar.

Women rushed toward the church vestry to escape the mad scene which ensued and men rushed to the aid of the fallen church officers.

The poisoned elders are: D. J. Vanderwert, John Riswold, S. Polkema, Henry Tarkenton, John Roth, R. Drufyn, J. Holmgren, C. Heemstra, R. Dooze and H. Hogewerf.

It is said that a new elder of the church went to the storehouse just before the morning service and picked up a jug of the stain, containing a large quantity of turpentine and other paint poisons, by mistake. The sacramental wine for communion is kept on a shelf just above the varnish, which had been used recently in repainting the pulpit and woodwork of the church.

The pastor had just completed his morning sermon and communion was served when John Riswold, the first elder to collapse, fell at the rushed the pulpit. Immediately the congregation was in an uproar, and as men rushed forward to pick up the fallen elder, the men stumbled to the effects of the poison and women began to stamper from the church.

Dr. J. V. Rickard was called and had two taken to hospitals and the rest removed to their homes. Elders Polkema and Riswold are not expected to live.

Dr. Dummel, pastor of the church, said he would make an investigation to determine what elder was responsible for the mistake.

Police officials say the prisoners could admit a long series of crimes, but they deny the McGee kidnapping. Mr. McGee is positive in his identification.

The suspects give the names of John Conway and Herman Lauder and each has served a term in Sing Sing.

Spain and legends of Sunan Spain. Burgo, the capital of the ancient kingdom, has lost none of its picturesque charm in the centuries since the day when El Cid drew his sword in rebellion against the Moors. Sunan Burgo is still populated by still clinging to its traditions as all good Spanish cities will, glorifying chiefly in the fact that the city was the scene of the possession of the historic Gothic cathedral, livable in all the kingdom, while the Moors did not do this until New Times.

The ancient cathedral founded in 1321, recently celebrated its birthday by enshrining in it the remains of the national idol, El Cid, the hero of the old Spanish legends, the women many legends.—[El change.

Schoolboy Answer.

From a Pennsylvania newspaper a good sister writes to a correspondent in Columbus regarding the difficulty of enshrining the burlesque idea how to shoot the top of the boys was asked: "What were the answers?" His answer was: "The first was a very stinky lot of handed Jesus a penny. The second was 'Looty Cid and the top of 'Whose subscription this?'"

Another little fellow was asked what a word described the state of a man having only one wife: "Monotony."—[Columbus Dispatch.]

Luxury at Race Course.

The Jockey Club stand at the famous Argentine race course at Palermo, made chiefly of white marble, is the most luxurious of any kind that in the world. Indulgence can be enjoyed with more indolent elegance in Argentina than in any other country. You sit in a beautifully furnished room (if you are of the distinguished) in the stand, and eat and drink the sumptuous through one of the Jockey Club's servants. They hasten to get you ready before the race so that you can pick your favorite for yourself and then have a lack of interest in the race.—[New York Evening Post.]

Not to be Trusted.

The editor in charge of the personal inquiry column opens his seventeenth letter with several lines of advice:

"I have lost three husbands, a woman reader had written confidentially, and now have you must be careful to accept him."

The editor dipped his pen in the ink. This was the last straw.

"If you've lost three husbands," he wrote, "I should say you are much too careless to be trusted with a fourth."—[Toronto Mail.]

His Job.

An elderly woman was rich but mean. She didn't keep cat because its paws might wear out the carpet.

She had to have servants, but she paid them as little as possible. One day she called in her thin, miserable-looking maid, who answered the door, cleaned the knives, waited at the table and did the work of the poodle and had the rest of the time to himself.

"One visitor asked him: 'You must be a poor fellow to do that.'"

"I do a butler and a gardener out of a job," replied the maid.—[Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.]

Ignorance of the Laffy.

Several weeks ago this office issued a list of words which it is fairly clean yet. Still a caller made an insulting remark about the list. He said: "What have you got that crepe hanging up there for? Somebody dead?" You can't see people show much poor rascal!—[Albion Tribune.]

Biggest Tale Goss in England.

London's oldest and most distinguished Palace is a beautiful hand-woven tablecloth that was made for the coronation of Edward the First. It is large enough to cover a table of 200 diners. It has only been used on five occasions. The cloth is so old that it has been split on the cloth, and that it forecasts ill luck to eat at one who spills wine on it.—[Exchange.]

Comprehensive Work.

"My cousin Edith studied hard, took a cooking school course."

"Well?"

"We're going to write a book on 'How to Get a Guy to Get Over It.'"—[Boston Transcript.]

Remembered a Famous.

"Did he tell the whole truth?"

"Practically. He told the truth with a hole just large enough for him to crawl out of."—[Boston Transcript.]

A Bit Suggestive.

Chief Tomahawk of the Sioux has bestowed a medal for the name "Charging Thunder." We wish it were not quite suggestive of the name of the author of the book on the subject of charging like thunder.—[Boston Transcript.]

Not Funny.

The magistrate gave sternly at the youthful defendant.

"You come from a good family, the judge said. You stole the watch, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir." and he was wrong."

"Sure," said the prisoner, "but I was out of it for about five minutes out of it, so I swiped it anyhow."—[American Legion Weekly.]

Not His Fault.

"Now, look here, Johnson, this man is doing double the work you do."

"That's all right," said Johnson. "I been told him, sir; but he won't stop."—[Argonaut.]

Paradoxical State of Affairs.

Casey: Have you struck job yet, Mike?

"Nagans: Sure. Of course I have. I got a job in the burg but he's worked here for a while."—[Boston Transcript.]

The Better Half.

Half of Chicago's police force, it is said, are bootleggers. The other half are in the police force on half of Chicago's police force. But which half are the bootleggers?

Man With "Cluckers" in Sack is Nabbed; Now
Cluck is Clucking

Who sets the eggs?
The property clerk at the Central Police Station is compelled to take care of nineteen chickens.

C. T. Allen, 1395 East Thirty-third street, colored, is in jail charged with suspicion of chicken stealing.

Mrs. A. L. Hotta, 1131 East Pico street, and H. G. Corbett, 1654 North Broadway, reported that chickens were stolen from their coops.

Allen was arrested at Pico street in Central square with the chickens, ducking excitedly in three gunny sacks. He said he was on his way to market them.

Thus far none of the feathered critters has laid any eggs, but the question is: If they do, who gets 'em?

It was done under the sanction of district engineers a year ago when it was estimated that if it fulfilled its ultimate purposes of training the river across the delta in full flow on Volcano Lake levee will save the irrigation district twelve the amount of its cost and it is expected to serve purpose for at least seven years when a new one would probably be required. The estimated cost of the project, $50,000 represents the amount that would otherwise be required to raise and maintain the levees now holding back the water. Engineers hope the Pasadenito cut, through El Estero, when the full stream is released, will be sufficient to remove considerable more silt than was taken out in its construction.

Chief Engineer Carberry announces that the main drainage river will be turned gradually to the new cut as the volume of the stream and the Box River will be dammed to prevent its further use as a channel. This procedure will mean the final drying-up of the Colorado river, a development which is a matter of concern. It will allow the reclaiming of thousands of acres of the farming land, but will bar the farming land, Mr. Carberry said.

FIVE A MINUTE.

Fire yesterday afternoon broke out in the smoke house of the Kaiser Packing Company, 23 and Ninth street, causing damage estimated by the fire department to be more than $100. It is reported that the flames extinguished themselves.

Power Magnate Tells of Conviction That Led to Creation of World-Renowned Library.

The center is a picture of the magnificent library building which the power and railroad magnate has erected on his San Marino estate to house his unparalleled collection of books and art treasures as a gift to the scholarship of the world. Grouped around the library are portraits of the great authors who have been so generously compensated in money. The top center are three unique Shakespearean quartets: The first edition of "Hamlet" (1603), "Richard II" (1597), and "Romeo and Juliet" (1597). To the left are "Venus and Adonis" (1589) and "The Tragedie of Coriolanus" (1595); and to the right, Rowley's "When You See Sme" (1592), "Migdianes," "Polychronicon," as printed by Caxton in 1478, and the first folio of Shakespeare (1623), and to the right the Coverdale Bible and Lincolnshire's "Itinerario" (1594). At the bottom, left to right, are the interlude of "Everyman" (1599), Medwall's "Fulgens and Lucres" (1560), Shelton's "Davys Playe" (1560), "The Booke of Genesis" (1578), Holbein's "Adam and Eve" (1578), "The Booke of Job" (1578), "The Booke of Daniel" (1578), "Sage" (1578), and Heywood's "If You Know Not Me You Know Nobody" (1606), with portrait of Queen Elizabeth. The cards were sent to Mr. Huntington's book-loving friends the world over.

AMERICA CREDITED WITH WINNING WAR

(BY CARLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS)

PARIS, Jan. 8.—America is given full credit for her part in winning the World War, in a book devoted to the struggle written by Joseph G. Durand, one of the most prominent French commentators on the war. The book is Oct. 1917. "The Americans won the war," said he is quoted as declaring. "Had the United States not intervened in 1917 we would have been lost."

QUALITY IN MEN'S WEAR SINCE 1883

The old theory that "what is one man's meat is another man's poison" holds good in the case of Frank Mayo, motion-picture leading man, who was knocked out in the middle of an act at Universal City Friday afternoon by a mess of calf's liver.

Stricken with an acute attack of ptomaine poison as a result of the family feasts of a hearty dinner of which liver was a part, Mayo was taken to his home, 638 South Alexandria avenue, where he has since been under the care of Dr. J. S. Johnston.

Yesterday it was reported that he was considerably better, but was still confined to his bed. He is being nursed by his wife, who, until her marriage a few months ago, was Miss Dagmar Godowsky, sister and her mother, Mrs. Leopold Godowsky, one of the noted pianists, who planned to leave for the East this week, have been commended for their devoted and selfless care of Mr. Mayo's illness.

RADICAL LITERATURE SEIZED; OWNER HELD.

Harry Alanton, 34 years of age, was arrested by Detective Sergeant Warren J. Cowan, early yesterday morning on suspicion of criminal syndicalism. The man was taken into custody at Second and Los Angeles streets. According to the officers, they seized radical literature which will be used as evidence.

Twelve years ago Mr. Huntington did not possess any more books than the average successful business man, who has a leaning towards literature. His achievement was the result of a long and arduous education of those same qualities which made him a successful business man. Organization, concentration, a conviction, impelled him to grasp an opportunity never before offered in the world of his kind. The coincidence a number of the largest private libraries came available through sale within a short space of time. Counting not the cost, Mr. Huntington's self-voiced conviction was, consolidate those private libraries which represent the best efforts of man's genius into one magnificent connoisseur's.

No more startling achievement can be found in the annals of achievement than the fulfillment of Mr. Huntington's vision.

BY STEPS UPWARD.

A resume of the stepping stones success in Mr. Huntington's careful life indicates the origin of his success. The first step was a change of his ladder may be labeled, "number," "shipbuilding," "railroad building," "land development," "insurance," "banking," "retail and wholesale trade," "investment for civilization," and finally, "retirement, at peace with God and a world."

When Mr. Huntington announced his "retirement" twelve years ago at the age of 60, but today the same old-looking eyes snap and gleam

I have a deep interest in that of it this final completion." "The entrance through an entrance corridor into long corridors filled with temporary stacks are a number of men were busy with the books. "Here are my Bret Harte editions," said Mr. Huntington, walking over to a rack about six feet high and extending into an adjoining stack. He took out a volume and held it between the palms of his hands as if he were turning it with the warmth of a sunshade. He did not open the cover.

ON CALIFORNIA.

"Here are the P. Sutter manuscripts," he said, passing to shelves across the aisle. It is very rare that Mr. Huntington loves to handle the books of his own collection. He is a student of the literature relating to it. In the text we entered an automatic elevator and descending to the second floor we found a large room filled with unopened boxes of books that have been shipped from the United States and Europe. They are only added to the collection and come gradually as it will take some time to arrange them," Mr. Huntington said.

Daughter's Mate Held for Forgery Case.

Two men were arrested yesterday by the Sheriff's deputies and his detectives on suspicion of forgery following the complaint of J. Scott, an elderly retired man who his checking accounts had tampered with.

Mr. Scott told officers that his business affairs were looked after by his son-in-law and daughter, and Mrs. George Whitacre, 519 N. Rampart Boulevard. He had bank accounts, he stated, and discovered a discrepancy of $1197, the return of checks which he not written.

Walter F. Peck, 30, 304 North Main street, was arrested, and according to the Sheriff's men, made a full confession implicating Mr. Whitacre, who refused to comment on the charges. The men were held in the County Jail.

Elizabeth Jordan's Column. THE FLAPPER'S DEBUT.

The voice of the flapper came to me through the curtain separating one booth from another in the beauty parlor. It was a sweet little voice and the flapper, I afterwards discovered when I saw her in the outer room, was a sweetly pretty little girl. She looked 16, but in the monologue I overheard she confided to Miss Daisy, who was waving her bobbed hair, that she was 18.

SUCH A RESPONSIBILITY.

"And I'm coming out next week," she went on in her high, clear, almost childish tones. "We have sent out a hundred and fifty invitations for my reception and dance. Of course, I'm worried to death for it's a simply terrible responsibility. Suppose they didn't have a good time!"

"I should think your mother would be worried, too," commented Miss Daisy, rather grimly. (It must be a little trying for these pretty young beauty specialists, living on $18 or $20 a week, to listen all day long to the confidences of gay young flappers who have nothing to do but exist.)

There was a pause while the flapper must have been gazing at Miss Daisy in open-eyed amazement.

"What's mother got to worry about?" she finally gasped out.

"Isn't her friends that are coming?"

"But I guess she wants it to be a success just the same," Miss Daisy reminded her. "And she's got to plan it all, hasn't she? That's enough to worry anyone. And I bet," added Miss Daisy recklessly, "your father is worrying, too—about the bills!"

PAPA PAYS THE PAPER.

"He does fuss a little sometimes," admitted the flapper. "But papa reminds me that I'll soon be married and off his hands. I hope I will," she added wistfully. "It's simply awful to hang on and not be a success. I know one girl who has been out three seasons and she hasn't even been engaged once!"

To this confidence Miss Daisy had no reply. The flapper went on.

"But there's one thing I'm not going to be turned up about, and that's my looks," she announced.

"You should worry," Miss Daisy kindly interjected.

HER BEAUTY PROGRAM.

"Oh, I don't mean that I'm satisfied with them," the flapper hurriedly explained. "I'm not so dreadfully concerned as that. What I mean is that I'm going to have every single thing you do, done to me this week before the party."

"I'm coming here every day, I'm going to have my eye brows unpainted right away, so I'll have time to get over the redness it causes and I'll have my face massaged and loosed every time, and my nails treated, and my hair treated. Then the morning of the party I'll come over for a final wave and massage and manicure and to have the new long eye lashes put on. It's too late to have my face lifted, but I don't really need that yet, do I?"

"You don't," Miss Daisy severely corroborated. "You oughtn't to even think of such a thing! And you don't need the false eye lashes, either, nor the eye brows extirpated. Your eye not far from the intersection of Pico and Hill streets.

Where will the center be say twenty years from now? No one can tell, but from present indications Grand avenue and Washington street would be a good place.

May I briefly offer a suggestion that, if carried out, will for all time settle the question of a civic center and union passenger terminal? Let the city purchase all the frontage on Washington street between Grand avenue and Main street, which would include so-called Washington and Fraser parks; widen Washington street from Figueroa to Alameda street to 118 feet, allowing for center parking, which could be beautified and cared for by the Park Commission; set aside sufficient area for City Hall (which could be constructed on the corner of Washington street facing Hill street) and for other city purposes; sell or donate to the government that portion of Fraser Park bounded by Hill, Washington streets and Grand avenue for post-office and other uses required; also sell or donate to the city of California that portion of Fraser Park bounded by Hill, Main and Washington streets for State buildings.

Local the union passenger terminal east of Alameda street facing Washington street, where there is ample room for all railroads that now exist or may come in the future.

Let the Pacific Electric and Los Angeles street car companies take over the tracks of the Southern Pacific on Alameda street and operate same by laying third rail. Widen and open up other streets adjacent to Washington street between Main and Alameda streets.

The Santa Fe and Union Pacific (Salt Lake) roads cross the Los Angeles River directly east of the proposed depot site; the Southern Pacific road would have access to it along the river bank.

Some one may ask "where is the money coming from to carry out this project?" I believe the railroad companies would gladly assist the city to finance the purchase of the land in consideration of not being forced to build the terminal at such an unsuitable location as the Plaza.

All will agree that the taxpayer money should be used for the greatest good to the greatest number—then why is this not a feasible suggestion?

Suggests Changes.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I would like to point out two advantages of keeping to the left when driving, as done in England and Hungary. In the case of a horse-drawn vehicle there is no chance of a pedestrian getting the whip across his shoulders as happened to me in Dresden, the driver sitting at the near side of the lead. And again, when alighting from a street car, one faces the correct direction with right-hand free to steady oneself. On the other hand, I see the wisdom of driving to the right: The pedestrian on the right of the sidewalk faces the coming traffic, and sees any possible mishap on the road. But after all, people alight from cars on either side of the road, for example, or autos mount the sidewalk, so that to my mind the English way is the best. As I am at any rate on the way

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Giantic Proposition.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Much has been said and written with reference to the location of a civic center and union passenger station for our fair city. We rightfully boast of the phenomenal growth of Los Angeles, and prophesy as to its future growth, yet we go on planning and building with apparently no thought of the future.

During the thirty-eight years the writer has made Los Angeles his home the center of population has gradually moved to the southwest until now the center is path I should like to know why postmen here empty mailboxes often much before the scheduled time. It may mean some important letter too late for the what. Why can it not be done as in England, where one sees the postman look at his watch and wait till it is the exact time. (The collector does not deliver letters as a rule, but if he does, as in the country, it is on his return from his round.) If there is any doubt in one's mind if his letter is being posted in time, a glance at the clock, which the postman has turned to, "next collection—p.m.," lets him know. Should the hours for collecting not be clearly given on an enameled or porcelain plate? Or is it a matter of indifference? EMILY L. CORNELIUS.

Stop the Sale.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In this month's number of Current Opinion I note a private advertisement protesting against the common use of firearms in the United States inviting the enlistment of others in the same cause.

For many years now it has seemed preposterous to me that guns of any description could be so freely obtained and so freely used in this country.

The daily accounts we read in Los Angeles alone of the exploits of the many bandits and gunmen would be almost farcical were it not so serious to the victims involved. For my part I do not believe the greater number of these gunmen would dare to ply their nefarious trade if it were not for the protection of these guns they so callously used.

Why should not the Federal government, or at any rate the different states, forbid absolutely the possession of any firearm whatever without a special permit, all other arms to be seized and confiscated or a reward offered revealing the concealment of such? Let home disarmament be a prelude to universal disarmament.

A walk down Main street would suggest that Los Angeles was a private arsenal, so numerous are the stores offering for sale all kinds of deadly weapons, any one of which is a menace to human life. A fear is often expressed that a household needs a gun for its protection, which is just the plea that the housebreaker puts up and thus the vicious circle runs. Forbid the indiscriminate purchase of guns, and a would-be housebreaker or a bandit might well hesitate in tackling them who know not what, whether a savage dog or a man stronger than themselves.

In closing, may I ask why the traffic officers forsake their posts to go after, or hold long conversations with friends while on duty? And as the two men, sometimes two officers, stand in different directions this only adds to the confusion of the traffic.

JAMES C. DUPUIS.

Wants Cheap Rent.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I wonder if it will do any good to appeal to you in regard to these exorbitant prices the hotels and apartment houses are asking?

Los Angeles is surely getting a black eye from the easterners and one cannot blame them. We have been looking for ten days for a room at a hotel or an apartment within reason and even the cheapest and shabbiest hotels and apartments ask the highest prices and never bat an eye, when they know that they are committing robbery.

You no doubt will have a plausible and lovely sounding excuse for the price of your papers, which are higher now than during the war?

Heaven only knows why and until the trusts and combines of various lines are broken or eliminated business must suffer because the people cannot pay the high rents and buy merchandise.

Why cannot the few be fair to the many? What good will it do eventually to the few to gain a few dollars now and suffer later? If their conscience does not prompt it, cannot the public rise up and demand fair play? And cannot you help? First by lowering the price of your dailies and then helping the public in getting a fair adjustment of rents so that business can recuperate.

The pen is mightier than the sword," and you claim your paper is for fair and honest dealing and the good of the people—"we please help it" and do something that will bring blessings to the public and from the public to you. Yours for health, happiness and humanity.

MARJIE MAX.

Hospital Crowded.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] May we call your attention to the deplorable condition now prevailing at our County Hospital due to lack of accommodation and overcrowding. This being particularly true as regards tubercular patients and those afflicted with cancer.

As you are probably aware, the Tubercular Home is at present full and about 140 of such patients in the County Hospital. At present there are about 1200 patients up there with room for only about 700 and some provision should at once be made for, at least, 250 extra beds at the Tubercular Home and we suggest that you, through the columns of The Times, call the attention of our Supervisors to the deplorable conditions and suggest to them that they appropriate sufficient funds to provide for these helpless people rather than spend $300,000 for an addition to the Museum, as we saw in Sunday's Times they were intending to do.

We have nothing but words of highest praise and commendation for the whole hospital staff, who are performing herculean labors under most adverse circumstances.

U. S. OILES.

Home-Made Justice.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A word of advice may not be amiss to motorists who drive through Monterey Park, a few miles from Los Angeles. Observe the traffic regulations thoroughly, and when clear of the city congratulate yourself.

The Dairyman of the Far North

Even in icy Lapland milk is the essential food for health, but the friendly cow of the pasture gives way to the indispensable reindeer.

With the icy blasts swirling the drifting snow in fantastic gyrations, the Laplander tends his herd and guards it as carefully as his life—for without the reindeer there would be no Milk, and with him, as with you, Fresh Milk is a necessity.

Just as Fresh Milk adds to the fortitude of the dweller in the frigid north, so it will help you enjoy daily good health.

Hard Luck on Trail of Los Angeles Pair

(REUTERS DISPATCH.)
SAN DIEGO, Jan. 8.—Harry and his bride, both of Los Angeles, came here to spend the honeymoon, but the masculine bride on this occasion has spent most of the time in jail, and the groom's bride is wondering what is going to happen next. It appears to be merely a case of tough luck. Harry and his bride were in the city when the shooting was done, but he was not there, because he has committed a serious crime.

First of all, the wedding, which took place in the city, was a little bit of a party. The groom, Harry Stark, clashed with the groomsmen when Harry was caught in the act of kissing the bride. The bride, who was a very beautiful girl, was then taken to the city and was sentenced to twenty-four hours in jail. While in the custody of the Coleman, it seems, wanted to do something nice for the new sheriff, so he gave Harris several pieces of jewelry. Coleman was the chief purveyor of the stolen goods.

Harris was released, he gave the jewelry to his wife, the daughter of the department, because she was transposed. Friedman and returned with him to the place where he was booked for investigation on suspicion of having stolen stolen property.

"It's a tough world," said Harris today.

the whole fabric of American busi-tional automobile show in history

Executive meetings, business dinner and long conferences placed the glitter and dash which marked the production figures provided on a daily output, while the big car makers have been more reluctant to put every body into their enterprises and give the big public what it has demanded—more center cars for less money.

The industry's reluctance is often apparent as a result of the many conferences to talk to the closer linking of parts and the "one" producers of finished cars. The industry has been looking for some time for the last three years and although many attempts have been made, no working agreement has yet been discovered. Many

If this happens business between the two companies will certainly much of the business on many cars now assembled and to give the public the benefit of a new production line. No verification of the rumor could be had from either of the two factions.
